WORKSHOP REPORT

With a number of extra-curricular events lining up consecutively in the ILS, it was a time someone had thought of doing something different. This was when Mr. Saurabh Siddhartha, who is also in-charge of teaching the subject Drafting, Pleading & Conveyance thought of organizing an out-of-the-box workshop for the Students of ILS. On top of all of this, the workshop was made completely free of cost for all the participants. There was just one catch; the seats for participation were limited to 80 only. The Student Conveners for the workshop, 2nd Year B.A.LL.B. (Hons.) students, Rudresh Srivastava & Ankush Gupta, got to the work of spreading the word. The Registration Form was opened at 3:00 PM sharp, and within 40 minutes, the organizers had received the 80 students they were looking for. What came as a shock to all was that 70% of the participants of the workshop consisted of students from the 1st Year only. Such was the enthusiasm of the students. Day 1 of the workshop started with the opening ceremony, where our respected Vice-Chancellor Sir & Dean Sir encouraged the students to make the most of this event. After this Mr. Alok Kumar & Mr. Prashant Chauhan gave the students a general idea about drafting and the key things to keep in mind while preparing a draft. What made this workshop different from the other ones was that the students were not called up here for another boring 3-day of lectures and everything. Instead, they were provided with all of the study material beforehand which they had to study and come prepared. The session was made a rather practical one. Students were divided into 8 groups of 10 each. Each group had to submit 1 document each, so the participants had to work together because one document represented all of them. First day started off easy, with the drafts of Plaints, Written Statements & Divorce Petitions being made. Things got hyped up on the 2nd Day. While the first half consisted of only drafting a Legal Notice, the organizers had something else up in their sleeves. The participants, in the next half, were divided into employers & employees. 4 groups were made employers and the other 4 the employees. Now, here came the real part, the participants were the team of lawyers from either side, and they had to negotiate and come up with an employment agreement suiting both the parties. This was the time when the best from every team came into the light. The auditorium was transformed into areas of round table conferences, where teams were discussing, arguing, everything possible to make their agreements the best for their clients. With such a heated session, the participants were given their day off, and it was the time for the Conveners, to do something even better for the final day.

On the final day, the teams were given the final shock. The Agreement, which they drafted, was the one in dispute, and now they had come to a settlement through arbitration and draft up an Arbitration Agreement. The place was theirs for the next 2 hours, and they had to come up with viable solutions for the same. Now, this time, the participants were warmed up to their core, and since their drafting and negotiating skills were already sharpened to the point where they could be ready for anything, there was a fully fledged war going on in the auditorium. From people peacefully negotiating to teams being vocal, everything could've been seen in that place. At the end of Day 3, the teams submitted their Agreements, and were pretty much satisfied with the same. Now came the most important part of all, the Written Assessment, where every person had to give a test and qualify it, in order to qualify the Basic Workshop. Every Student was given a few basic theoretical questions and 2 drafts to make at their own discord. This was then evaluated by Mr. Saurabh Siddhartha himself and this test along with the Group Performances were taken into consideration for the awards.

The Best Draftsman Award was bagged by Muskan Agarwal, a 1st Year Student.

Looking at the amazing drafts which were received, the Conveners decided that they will be handing out 3 Special Mention Awards instead of 1. The ones bagging the Special Mention Awards were G. Sisir, a 1st Year Student, Jannvi Pandey, another 1st Year Student and Ananya Misra, a 2nd Year Student.

Receiving great critical acclaim from the first workshop and an immensely positive response from the participants, the organizers planned on organizing the 2nd Edition of the Workshop, with ADR Methods being the newly introduced topic.

The excitement level for this workshop was so high that the organizers had to put a cap for each the year of study. The level of participation was this much that 100 registrations were reached in merely 30 minutes of the opening of the Registration Link.

The 5 day workshop was divided into 2 parts majorly. The first 3 days were for the students who haven't participated in the 1st edition of the workshop. The next 2 days were for the new participants as well as the old participants who participated in the 1st edition.

The Inaugural Session of the workshop started with the lightening of the lamp which was done by Prof. (Dr.) Pawan K. Aggarwal, Vice-Chancellor IUD, Prof. (Dr.) Muddu Vinay, Pro Vice-Chancellor IUD, Colonel A. K. Dutta, Registrar IUD along with Mrs. Monica Kharola, In-Charge ILS. The Pro Vice-Chancellor congratulated the organizers for organizing such a wonderful platform for the students to learn great lot things. The 5 Days of the Workshop were filled with a number of activities with drafting of various legal documents like Plaints, Divorce Petitions, Written Statements, Legal Notices, Employment Agreements etc. The final 2 days of the events were the big eventful ones wherein half of the teams were given a problem of 1 side and half were given the problem of another side. Both of them were then asked to negotiate each other and come to a common consensus and thereby draft an agreement. After this, the faculty convener pointed out the problems in the agreements and asked them to come up to solve this issue over Mediation. IIIrd Workshop – WORKSHOP ON DRAFTING PLEADING &
CONVEYANCE

(24-25 Nov, 2018)

Number of Participants : 80

Best Draftsman : Sonali Sinha

High Commendation : Kanav Bharati Gupta, Sheersha Saxena

Special Mention : Swechcha Mishra, Pankaj Prakash Shukla

Faculty Convener : Saurabh Siddhartha

REPORT

The first day of the workshop began with a crowd of participants full of zest to learn something new which was backed by the motivational speeches given by the faculty incharge Mr.SaurabhSiddharth and president of the committee Mr.RudreshSrivastava. Our esteemed faculties Mr.Rajiv, Mr.Avishek Raj and Mr.Mohit also shed some light on the matters relating to drafting.

The students began their activity sessions after a short informal ice breaker session, the aim of which was to introduce the kind of communication skills and patience they would need for the two days. The formal activity sessions for the day comprised of firstly briefing the students and then making them draft plaint, written statements and divorce petitions. As the workshop went forth, the participants had the opportunity to be briefed about legal notice by Advocate Ankit Singh of Clifford and Chance who is also a PhD from Harvard Law School.

The participants were divided into 8 teams of 10-12 students each and the groups prepared one draft each as they were directed to. Even though team work is what mattered for the day, there were participants like GurneetKaur, SheershaSaxena, Swechcha Mishra, KanavBharti Gupta, AmritGhoshi and Akshat Jain who came out with flying colours amidst the crowd with their individual contributions in the activities.

The events for the day were wrapped up on an affirmative note from the participants on how the workshop proved to be different from the regular workshops which turned out to be banal due to lack of interactive activities.

Day 2

Day 2 of the workshop witnessed a crowd that was as enthusiastic as the one on the first day of the workshop. The faculty convener, Mr.Saurabh Siddhartha addressed the participants and pointed out the mistakes in the drafts submitted on the previous day. He also talked about how drafting a legal document is different from an ordinary document.

The day proceeded by announcement of the results from the previous rounds and Team Togepi being the one to ace it, was followed by Teams Pikachu, Onix, Snorlax, Charmander, Bulbasaur, Jigglypuff and Squirtle.

The first document drafted for the day was Legal Notice followed by the employment agreement and the second was the arbitration agreement. The participants were also given a gist of how the process of negotiation and arbitration works by first, making them negotiate on the employment agreement and then carry out the process of arbitration on the points of conflict arising out of the same. The teams were asked to appoint one arbitrator from each side and the third arbitrator was appointed by the committee. The process went on for more than an hour with exhaustive debates on the disputes referred for arbitration.
